At Pell City High

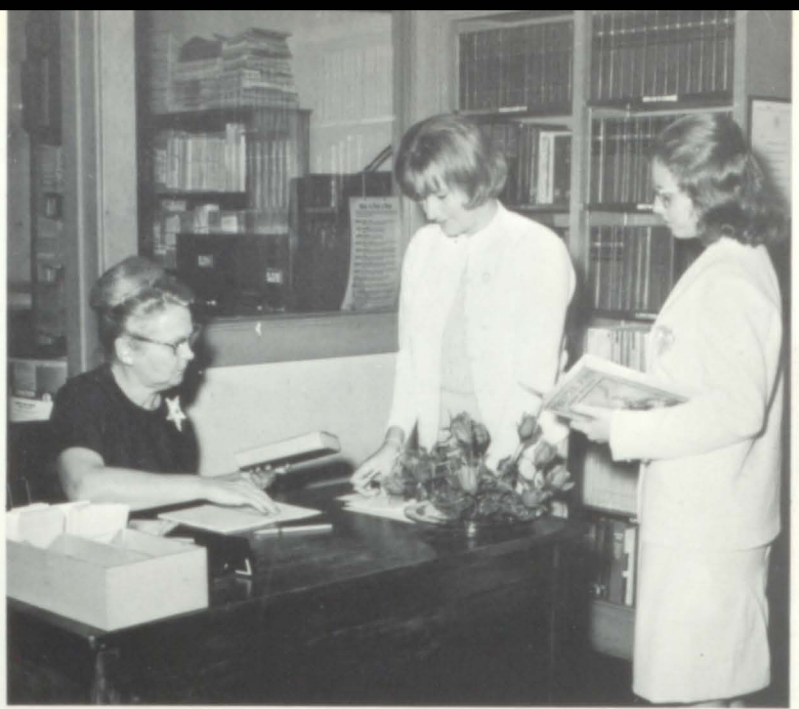

We Grow —

PCHS Official Seal

The Pell City High School seal was adopted by the student body November 23, 1964. The seal, which originated with the student council, is used on invitations, stationery, and official school papers. The school drawing personalizes the seal for PCHS. The lamp represents academic and scholastic accomplishments; the Panther is the symbol of sportsmanship and extracurricular activities.

Intellectual growth comes through . . . "new" math . . . "old" math . . . secretarial training . . . research . . . lab experiments . . . sentence parsing . . . shorthand dictation . . . governmental study . . . All toward one goal--the intellectual growth necessary for tomorrow's space-age, world leaders.

The world of knowledge opens through literature.

A broad vocabulary strengthens interpretation.

Mathematics--the basis of all sciences.

Intellectually

Nuclear physics--the key to success in the space age.

Government and economics--for better understanding world conditions.

Vocational training for tomorrow's secretaries.

The students have an enlightening panel discussion on man, morals, and maturity.

Panel discussions on morals . . .
Guidance on problems of life . . .
Daily devotions . . . on Sunday each to his own denomination to worship as he pleases . . . the quietness of high standards instilled through the high caliber of the leaders.

Morally

Quiet meditation-good for the soul.

Many see the Eternal through the beauties of nature.

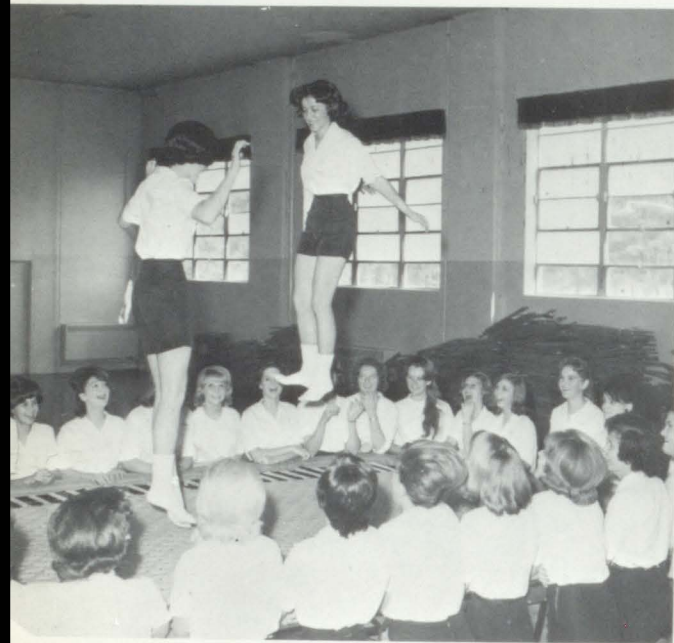

The girls do exercises which help to strengthen their bodies.

The girls get a great deal of Foot balancing on the trampoline is more fun when you do it with a partner.

Graceful motion is the key to successful balance.

enjoyment by jumping bamboo canes.

This is one of the exercises the girls do to the rhythm of music.

A strong body to parallel the strong mind, the aim of the P. E. Department . . . Physical acumen and alertness, rhythm, the beauty of movement, muscular dexterity . . . personal hygiene . . . while exercising. And don't forget varsity sports that aid physical growth.

Mrs. Turner, a well-trained interested leader, does the exercises along with the girls.

Physically

Girls learn how to dress and even to design their own clothes!

Drawing boards and easels--all become a part of life to the art student. Sketching is never drudgery . . . it enlightens the heart, as well as the mind.

The beauty of both form and color is brought out in the still life's conceived by Pell High Artists.

Aesthetically

Pell High students are taught to "Open their eyes and see" . . . the beauties of the world . . . the loveliness of form, shape, and color . . . sketching . . . modeling clay . . . oil painting . . . working on the wheel . . . all the arts (and music) adding beauty to the lives of all, both students and faculty . . . the beautiful reflected in the lives of all and in the homes of all.

The Art Clubs work to produce exhibits . . . The band, to give concerts and to entertain with "The Sound of Music."

Dedication

With grateful appreciation and sincere respect we, the Senior class of Pell City High School, dedicate this '66 Pelme1 to our principal, Roy E. Mann. Three years ago our school opened its doors to both Mr. Mann and to the present-day seniors. Since that time, he has been responsible for strengthening the life of every student and has proven himself to be an ideal leader, an impartial judge, and a dedicated friend. As problems arise, the Pell High faculty, as well as the students, can always depend on Mr. Mann for advice, guidance, and support. For this inspiring and unselfish service, we offer this small token of our esteem.

In Memoriam

Everyone was saddened by the sudden and untimely death in June, 1966, of Mr. O. D. Duran, St. Clair County Superintendent of Education. To the students of Pell City High School, Mr. Duran was more than Superintendent--he was their friend and learned counselor.

Throughout his life Mr. Duran had been interested in education, leaving the United States Department of Agriculture to become a teacher in the St. Clair County system. His progression in the teaching profession cast him as principal of the Pell City Elementary School, Pell City Junior High, and, immediately prior to superintendency, the Pell City High School.

Mr. Duran would not desire that people over-mourn his death for he believed in life--the Christian life--and in living it fully, in helping his fellow man, and in serving his Master. It can best be said in Mr. Duran's own words, which we quote, from his message to the students of Pell City High School in the 1961 PelmeL: "It is my desire that the attitudes you have developed and the training received while in Pell City High School will enable you to live life to the fullest every day. Each person must live his own life in his own way, but a religious belief will help to overcome the heartaches in life. I hope that each of you will develop a sincere faith in God and an abiding trust in mankind. May God's blessings and mercy surround you in whatever vocation you choose."

Humbly, with reverence and respect, do we, the students of Pell City High School, enter this page in the '66 PELMEL as a lasting memorial to Mr. Orville D. Duran.

Dear Friends, Fellow Students, and Classmates:

The fondest memories of my school career will be those received this year while serving as your Student Council President. With the experience I have gained, I feel I can face the future better prepared. I will always remember this year and the small part I have played in making PCHS the kind of school of which you and I are proud. We on the Student Council hope it has been a successful year for each student and faculty member and that each will treasure memories of this year.

Reed Alexander

Dear Students:

Growth is sure. The type of growth you have is determined largely by you.

You should give your body the kind of care it needs for healthy living. You should feed your mind on things that are high spiritually as well as intellectually.

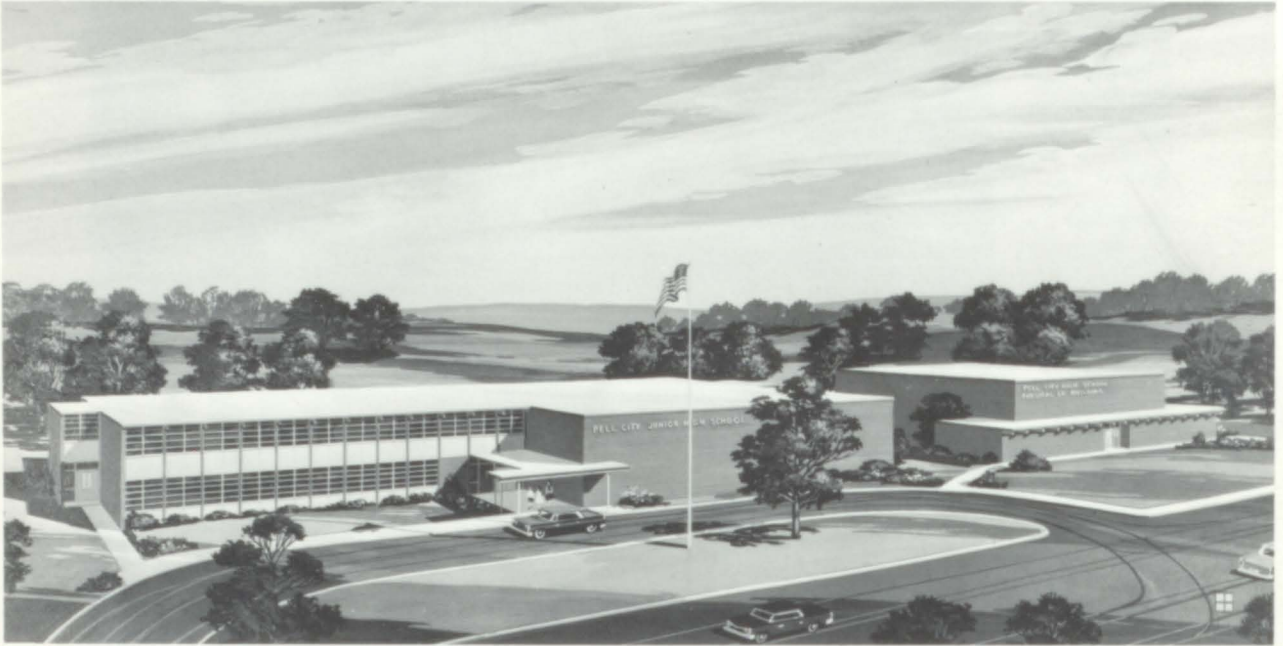

We are proud of you, the students of Pell City High School, for the evidence of desirable growth that has been exhibited by your citizenship, academic achievements, and your spiritual and physical growth.

We hope that Pell City High School has kindled a flame that will compel each of you to continue desirable growth physically, mentally, and spiritually throughout your lives.

Sincerely yours,

Roy E. Mann, Principal

Proposed Junior High and Gymnasium

The contract has been given to Scott Brothers of Alexander City for the construction of a new junior high school and a gymnasium for use by both the senior and junior high schools. It is hoped that the gymnasium will be completed and ready for use when school opens in the fall of 1966.

The gymnasium is the result of dreams and hopes by Pell City citizens for many years. This gym will be regulation size with sufficient space for both varsity and physical education class use.

When the junior high grades transfer into the new building, there will be improved curriculum in both junior and senior grades.

A Day in the Life of an Assistant Principal

Day Begins Normally

Then - explosion in Chemistry lab and gas makes students silly

Someone steals his coffee thermos

Photographer for annual staff arrives and chaos starts

While eating chocolate covered grasshoppers at special meeting, notified that his bus was stolen

Teachers on strike? students, too?

Eyes blurred, head a-whirl, tummy full of butterflies - but

Day ends - All quiet!
bus back, thermos back,
too! Hee! Hee!

New Teachers Second Semester Welcomed

Margaret P. Scott, Reading Instructor, is a graduate of University of Alabama where she received her Master's Degree. Her favorite personality is her husband; favorite food, steak; pet peeve, inefficiency. Her motto is "I'd rather BE a sermon than hear one. "

A. C. Langner, Pell City High School's new Guidance Counselor, received his B. S. Degree at Auburn University. He has no pet peeves, nor any favorite foods; he just likes all foods! His favorite personality is his wife.

Nancy H. Turner, B. S. , University of Alabama, teaches Typing I and II. She says that Winston Churchill is her favorite personality; fried chicken, her favorite food; and that students who are late for class is her pet peeve. She advises students "to use time wisely and get the most from every opportunity. "
